Administration and Guidance

O.U. Johansen, Principol

Dear Students:

Each generation has its unique problems and its unique environment, and to some degree, each of us becomes a product of his own special environment. In spite of this, it is my hope that each of you will have strengths and inner convictions which arise from something other than what is fashionable and contemporary, that you will not be totally enveloped and influenced by the current of the times which is often treacherous and shifting.

Keep in mind, also, the necessity for remaining young in spirit. Youth, it has been said, belongs to every man whose dreams outweigh his memories and if you always have principles higher than your ambitions, if your dreams always exceed your grasp, you will keep forever the quality of youth.

My best wishes to all of you as you go your separate ways in life.

Administration and Guidance

This year brought changes in the W-L Administration. Instead of having a Dean of Girls and a Dean of Boys, the system was altered, and we had three Assistant Principals, one assigned to each particular grade. Mr. Ness moved from Guidance and was made Assistant Principal for the 10th grade, Mr. Long was put in charge of the juniors, and Mr. Wilson headed the seniors. Mrs. Matthews became Director of Curriculum, replacing Dr. Webb. In the Guidance Department, Mrs. Guter filled the position left vacant upon Mrs. Peckhom's retirement. It must be added that this department was as busy as usual this year, with counselors helping students to solve problems in scheduling, college boards, and admissions. The College Day Program was held early in the year at Thomas Jefferson Community Center, and was a great success.

Art

Walking from class to class was a scenic pleasure thanks to students taking courses under the Art Department. The beautiful, frequently changing murals were, for the large part, art class projects. Crafts, silk screening, painting, and sketching were some of the skills W-L students worked to master. A new darkroom was built in the department, and those interested in graphic arts were able to pursue photo-silk screening. The annual spring art show was a big success for those students who displayed their works, and for the many who enjoyed and purchased pictures, wall-hangings, and pieces of sculpture.

English

All Washington-Lee students had one thing in common — an English course, but the type of course was not necessarily the same. The elective system in English was changed slightly this year, with those choosing this option covering vocabulary, composition, and grammar during the first semester, followed by two quarters of elective study. Along with this elective system and a traditional full-year English course, there were courses for the advanced English student starting with Enriched English in 10th grade, and Advanced Placement English courses in 11th and 12th grades. Students still had two more options. Some juniors preferred American Civilization, a combination of English and history, while many seniors chose to study the fine and literary arts through the ages by participating in the Art-English-Music seminar.

PLAGIARISM

(plo jo riz am) Stealing words or ideas from another and passing them off as one's own. The author sued the playwright for plagiarism of his plot.

(Latin plagiarius, kidnapper, from plagium, hunting net.)

The theft of what someone else has written is quite properly compared with stealing his children.

The poem he entered in the contest had been plagiarized from a little-known American poet. 4_____ The French plagiarism faced the ocean and was dotted with many small hotels. 7_____ The plagiarism spread like wildfire and took many lives. 3_____ It is difficult to prove the plagiarism of an idea. 1_____ The two men claimed that their simultaneous publication of the same discovery was a coincidence and not plagiarism. 9_____

Music

Along with the regular schedule of concerts and school assemblies, the students working under the supervision of the Music Department helped in the successful production of My Fair Lady. The 1973-74 Marching Band was vastly improved when, for the first time, it became mandatory for all students participating in the Concert Band. This group helped to inspire our football team on to VICTORY. The Madrigals, a group of seniors talented in the vocal aspects of music, went on a tour of the southern United States over the Easter vacation break.

Science

Science courses at W-L, including Biology, Chemistry, and Physics, allowed students to participate in laboratory experiments. Terrariums were the fashionable home decoration this year, and biology classes created some beautiful ones. More advanced students worked in a less structured atmosphere in Biology II, and Physics II which allowed far more independent study. Star-struck students took a new course — Astronomy — and during the October scare were busy putting their new-found knowledge to work looking for UFO's.

Physical Education

Physical Education classes, mandatory for tenth grade students, offered many different kinds of activities this year. Team sports, such as basketball and volleyball, as well as more individualized activities, such as tennis and aquatic instruction were provided. Health Education gave the students instruction in physical and mental health. It also taught consumer education. Another facet of W-L's recreation facilities was added to this year. The Cammans gained a new supervisor as well as several pieces of equipment, including a pool table. Mrs. Mary Hurd was not a part of the Physical Education Department. She provided for W-L students a chance for educational remediation; they could go to her for extra help in English, math, or reading.

Business

The Business Department at W-L trained students in the skills required for office work. As well as the traditional courses in typing and shorthand, students took Business Math, Data Processing, and Recordkeeping. Vocational Office Training students, after a morning of study in required courses, went to work to practice their skills and earn money in the afternoon.

Home Economics

The Pizza Hut may not have been open at 10 a.m., but that did not stop W-L students from enjoying this treat, as well as many others. Foods I and II included not only the preparation and menu planning of meals, but also the etiquette involved in serving others. Housing gave the students experience in budgeting and interior decorating. Child Development students cared for children from ages 3-4, and learned about the mental and physical development of these children through observation and research.

Mrs. Beulah Anderson

Mrs. Janne Clemmer

Mrs. Carol Jeske

Mrs. Anne Odell

The Art, English and Music Departments have joined forces and came up with the AEM seminar; why not add Home Economics to this roster? Students could then sample the wares mentioned in the stories, books, and poems read in English class. Here is an example of a recipe that could satisfy the curiosity centered around mead — the fermented honey drink of Beowulf's day. The mead hall was the center of much action in Saxon times, and it was there that the warrior Beowulf took hold of the arm of Grendel, a monster of human shape but super-human size, who could kill thirty men at once with ease.

There Grendel suffered a grievous hurt,
A wound in the shoulder, gaping and wide;
Sinews snapped and bone-joints brake,
And Beowulf gained the glory of battle.

Here is the recipe for the drink that was popular before 900 A.D., and continued to be so during the Middle Ages.

2 cups honey
½ cup brown sugar
Grated rind and juice of 1 lemon
2 egg whites, or
1 egg, lightly beaten

2 pinches each: powdered
mace, cloves, nutmeg, ginger, cinnamon, dried
rosemary, and pepper
1 envelope dried yeast.

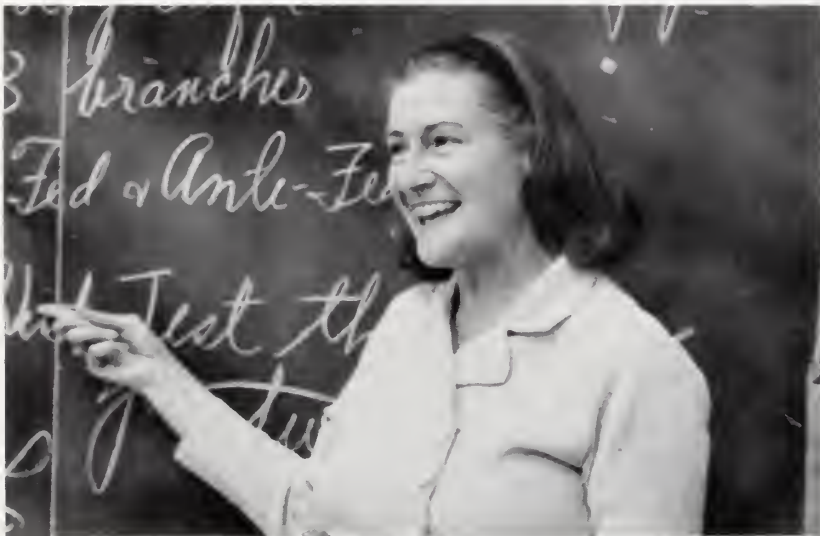

Place all ingredients except yeast in a large kettle with 4 quarts water and simmer gently for 1 hour, skimming the surface as needed. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in ¼ cup of the mixture and add to remaining brew. Pour into a sterilized crock or jars. Let age for 3 months. Strain and bottle. Serve well chilled. Makes 4 quarts.

Social Studies

The rapidity with which current events developed during this year left many of the Social Studies teachers in a bind. In trying to brief students on the Middle East crisis as well as on Watergate, the day-to-day planning of many teachers had to be changed. However, the teachers managed and classes went on as usual. Courses in History, Government, and Psychology were offered this year, along with History for the Foreign Born and World History, two new additions to the Social Studies Department. Business Law, Economics, and American Civilization were also taken by many students. American Civilization combines the English and History requirements of juniors into one course.

Distributive Education

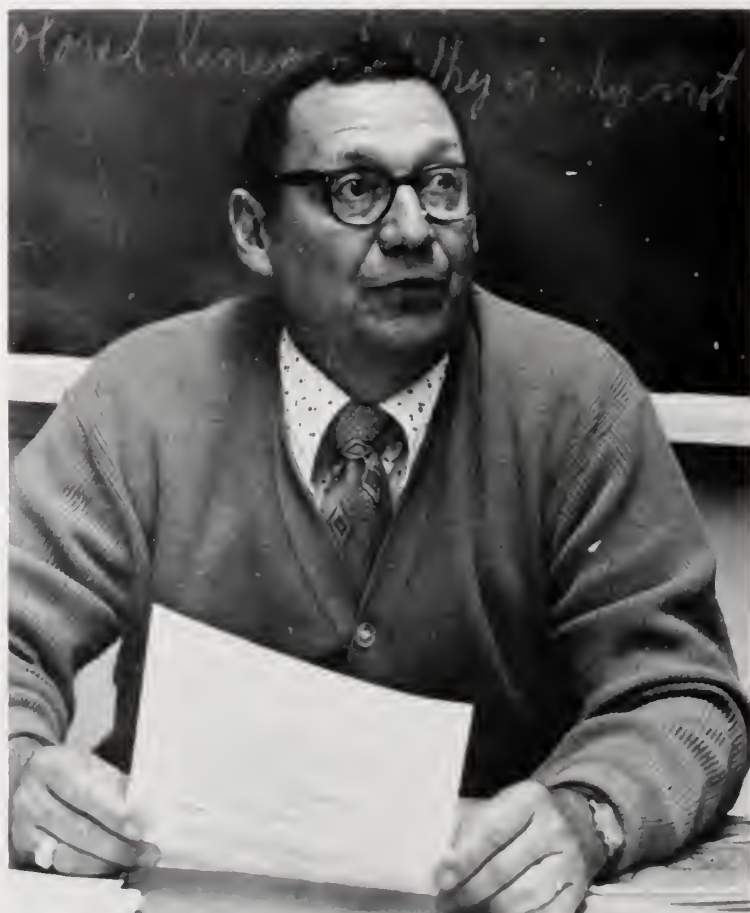

The Distributive Education program allowed high school students to actively participate in part-time jobs for high school credit as well as for pay. Students were employed by the telephone company, Hecht Company, Giant Food and other community-minded businesses throughout Arlington County. Students attended required courses in the morning and worked in the afternoon. They were supervised by Distributive Education co-ordinators, who acted as job counselors in addition to teaching marketing skills. In the classroom, emphasis was placed on human relations, sales and the other aspects of business operations that students faced on their jobs.

Industrial Arts

Unfortunately most of W-L's students never got into the annex that housed the Industrial Arts Department. Upon entering this building, the sound of drills and engines could at times be astonishing. The students making the noise were developing skills that could be used for future jobs. Students interested in Industrial Arts chose from a varied selection of courses, including woodworking, electronics and drafting classes. Auto and power mechanics were interesting and valuable to the career-minded student as well as the hobbyist.

Mathematics

The needs of many were fulfilled by the Math Department. While college-bound students normally focused on math at advanced levels, students interested in vocational careers took courses that concentrated on business math. Students interested in pursuing engineering careers could be found in A.P. Math III, which offered analysis and calculus. All students realized that the computer has become an increasingly important aspect of our society, and every student in a math course went through a computer introduction, where he learned to write and run programs. Math is an ever-more-intricate field, and the W-L students had their hands full keeping up with developments.

Language

With ever increasing international communications, a foreign language was a must for career minded students. Since most colleges and universities require some foreign language experience, the Language Department courses were comprised of many college-bound students. For those concerned with the here and now, studies of Latin, French, Spanish, and German added to the understanding of the English language. As there were many foreign students at W-L, there were classes of English as a Second Language. Students in this course often chose the option of independent study for a broader development of the language.

Library

At one time the library was the best place in school to socialize, but during this year the two floors were so chock full of interesting things to do, see and hear that little socialization could take place. The four-year-old library was one of the best equipped in the Arlington Public Schools. W-L students used video tape equipment to film their own productions and professional ones; they used slide, microfilm, and movie projectors. Music lovers found record players and albums. The reading and resource materials were excellent. Moreover, the library was a showcase for many of the school's artists. The Class of 1973 can be thanked for the new photocopier that was located on the first floor. There was always something to do in the library.

Dr. and Mrs. Gibbs (Jahn Thamas and Susan Paynter) share a conversation during a performance of Our Town.

The cast practices the wedding scene during rehearsal.

The cast of Our Town will be going to England over Easter vacation. Throughout the year the cast has worked together to make money for the trip so the cast for each individual would be less. The cast also worked hard on the play and the work has paid off.

My Fair Lady has involved more students and teachers this year than any other play done at WL. Not only Drama Classes worked on it, but also the Home Ec. Dept., the Art Dept., and the Music Dept. The musical had an excellent six day run.

Arts and Crafts

This year the Art Club changed its name to the Arts and Crafts Club, which better describes what the club does.

The club sponsored the Christmas Shop. Its members spent many hours making the merchandise as one of the major projects of the year.

The bubbling Beta beauties always found something with which to keep themselves busy through the year. After co-sponsoring the Homecoming Dance with the Key Club, they went on to collect for UNICEF, donate to Mission Hurst, Epilepsy, and March of Dimes. Some of their more leisurely activities included slumber parties and making W-L pennants.

Marty Watts discusses Beta activities.

First Row: Marty Watts (President), Mary Purvinis (Secretary), Liz Fogle (Vice-president), Germaine Lawler (Treasurer), Mary Warren, Linda Kitchens. Second Row: Cloire Pallansch, Mary Corbin, Rachel Holley, Jayce Pye, Potti Hannahs, Sindy Miller. Third Row: Nancy Johnson, Jeni Morris, Karen Hareman, Laura Gutnick, Melanie Gordon, Leah Cohen. Sigma Service Club

Sigma Service Club focused most of its activities around the community services. They collected for the March of Dimes, the Heart Fund, and HOPE. They also made stuffed animals for the cerebral palsy children. Services for the student body included bake sales and selling carnations on Valentines Day.

Kappa Service Club offered aid to our school and the community throughout this year. The Members ushered at concerts, stuffed stockings at Christmas, collected for the March of Dimes, and gathered up three carloads full of clothes for the Migrant Workers of Appalachia. With all their work, they also had time for fun.

Communications Corps

This year, the Communications Corp was the largest group ever. The 10 members brought daily announcements and words of cheer to the student body, both morning and afternoon.

And here's Rick Austin with the WLHS Tuesday morning announcements.

Evan Dosik, Sue Naccarato and Mike Hubbard, ready to read the announcements.

Bible Club

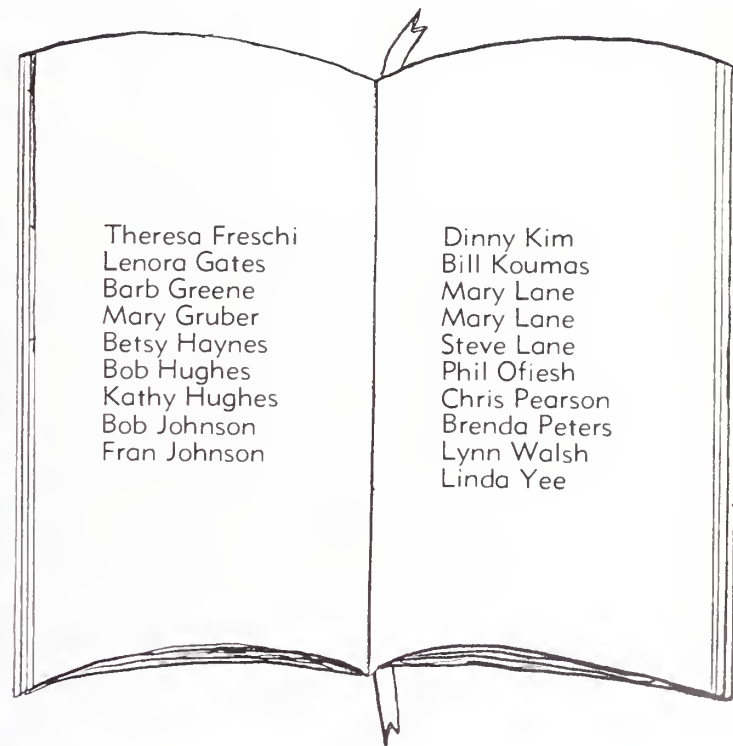

The Bible Club members have strived to make their club a source of fellowship for the students at W-L. They held weekly meetings and daily prayer sessions in the mornings, open to the student body.

Chris Pearson, Kathy Hughes, and Phil Ofiesh are engrossed in a discussion.

Kathy Hughes meditates on a passage from the Bible.

Girls' Crew Boosters

The Girls' Crew Boosters main function was to make money for the boys' crew. They worked in collaboration with the parents for this purpose, attending races, selling megaphones, and helping arouse enthusiasm and support for the crew.

Members: Kim Knoizen (Pres.), Clara Sky (Vice-Pres.), Linda Asplund (Sec.), Ann Kelley (Treas.), Ranjana Bose, Caroline Kramer, Estelle Hickey, Mary Purvinis, Brenda Trainor, Valerie Chandler, Claire Pallansch, Chris Kocur, Linda Kitchens, Lisa Glendening, Liz Fogle, Mary Warren, GERALYNE Wright, Ellen Showen, Cathy Cadwallader, Cynthia Waters, Albine Katial, Mary Henderson, Gwen Graham, Karen Sievers, Marie Gammon, Mary Chisnell.

Among other activities this year, National Beta Service Club and other students and faculty volunteers gave aid to the Washington Humane Society. Shredding paper is just that kind of nitty-gritty volunteer work that prompted the praise from the Washington Star's January 19th "Honor Roll". All members in National Beta feel they really had a great year.

Pam Sullivan signs up Pam Reavis for the March of Dimes.

Alice Prather collects dues during one of the meetings.

Keyettes

Keyettes Service Club members worked this year on bake sales, envelope stuffing, on a picnic for retarded children, and on the Cerebral Palsy Telethon. They were much appreciated for their endeavors.

Heidi Huko (Sec.), Kelly Fawcett, and Mary Lane (Treas.) discuss the "Mothers March." Lucy Huko and Wendy Hughes were also active Keyettes.

Mary Lane, Linda Larkie, Ginny Sullivan, and Shirley Thompson (V.P.) pour over some literature to determine what they can do to help the cause.

Ginny Sullivan (President) shows concern.

Key Club

During a Kiwanis luncheon, President Tom welcomes a new Key Club into existence.

In its first year, Key Club successfully established itself in the club community of Washington-Lee. This year the Key-Clubbers organized a Run-A-Thon to raise money for A.L.S.A.C., co-sponsored the Homecoming Dance with Beta Service Club, helped with Arlington Kiwanis annual Oyster Feast, participated in the March of Dimes, helped with the Kiwanis community-wide Peanut Sale and held a fund raising Car Wash.

Scott MacFarlan thinks of upcoming activities.

Drill Team

Marching down the halls with the band, and giving half-time performances for frozen football fans are only a few of the numerous activities involved in being a member of the Drill Team. Captain Shirley Thompson has kept her girls cheering for W-L through its ups and downs.

Drill Team's mascot, Katrina Bowman, does her thing at the half-time performance.

First Row: Kothy Torrence, Michele Simon, Michele Porter, Chris Wroe, Terrye Jones, Ginger Thompson, Korin Sievers, Caroline Bone (Senior Co-Coptoin), Vickie Pever (Treasurer), Rochel Holley, Jeni Morris, Dott Scott, Brendo Allen, Mortho Schele, Volerie Brooks. WL Marching Band

The Marching Band fills the halls with the WL spirit and song, rousing everyone's spirit and feeling of enthusiasm.

Rick Austin and Brian Easter watch the game.

Little boy Blinn, come blow your horn!

This year's marching band, under the disciplined direction of Mr. Lewis, was one of the best to ever step out in Memorial Stadium. Flashy routines, though learned quickly, outclassed all the competition in Arlington and showed a few Fairfax schools some new stuff.

What an impressive group of musicians!

Christine Voutsides and Nicki Naccaroto discuss their music

Mr. Lewis, the Band's conductor, threatens the band with his baton.

Mary Shart concentrates on a piece of music in class.

Bab Blinn and Steve Philippy team up to add depth to the band's music.

This year's Concert Band has livened up several assemblies with their music. Lead by Mr. Lewis, the Concert Band has participated in a Fall Pops Concert, presented a Christmas Concert, competed in District XII Music Festival, and topped off the year with an excellent Spring Concert.

Orchestra

Mr. Krasney gives the class an assignment and Diana Spencer seems to disapprove.

Mr. Krasney instructs Ginger Thompson in the art of playing the cello.

Cherie Hart and Ginger Thompson look thrilled (!) with the music.

The Orchestra put long hours into practicing top notch entertainment for the student body. Under Mr. Krasney's direction, the brass and percussion, strings and wind instruments were brought together in harmony.

Madrigals

This year's Madrigals consists of eight girls and seven boys. They kept themselves very busy singing for many women's clubs, dinners, churches, the Pageant of Peace, and the Lion's Club. The Madrigals also made a commercial for WMAL Channel 7 TV which was run during the 7 and 11 o'clock news on Dec. 20. The highest point for the Madrigals was their performance at Disneyworld.

Madrigals Jenny Pigg, Brenda Peters, Ann O'Donnell, and Delia Miller entertain the National Honor Society inductees.

Rick Austin serenades Jenny Pigg.

Delia Miller laughs it up after a performance.

Bob Jeschke concentrates on his new music

The Choir entertains the student body during the Christmas Assembly.

The leadership of Dr. Baxter carries Barbara Laughlin and the choir through their parts with ease.

The members of the Choir, consisting of juniors and seniors, had a busy agenda this year. Through the leadership of Dr. Baxter, the Choir participated in the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring assemblies. They also had the pleasure to sing for many churches and civic groups. The height of the year was the Choir's performance at the Washington Cathedral and the Sunrise Easter service at Iwo Jima.

Jeanne Wonderly and Gail Smith await their cue at the piano.

Patty Bowen, Ann O'Donnell and fellow vocalists sing to their hearts' content.

The Choir practices diligently for their next performance.

Blair Standridge, Mary Corbin, and Gail Smith work on a new song.

Absent from Picture: Stuart Blue (Secretary-Treasurer), Frank Lanzilla, Marty Hill, Joe Muskett, Tany Pawell, Tany Smith.

Hiking Club

The Hiking Club is in its second year here at W-L. Its goals are to teach hiking and camping skills and to spend several days away from it all in the quiet splendor of the nearby woods and forests.

The Hiking Club pauses on the Billy Goot Trail at Great Falls.

The Girls' Athletic Association met after school to engage in a variety of activities. The girls are pictured here during an invigorating basketball workout. GAA is an intramural program and the girls receive no varsity recognition for their efforts. Perhaps in the future the varsity athletic program will include more sports for these energetic girls.

Talking to the ball could help it go through the hoop.

"I shot a basket in the air, if it should land, I know not where."

"... And it's allemande right and dosedo your partner ..."

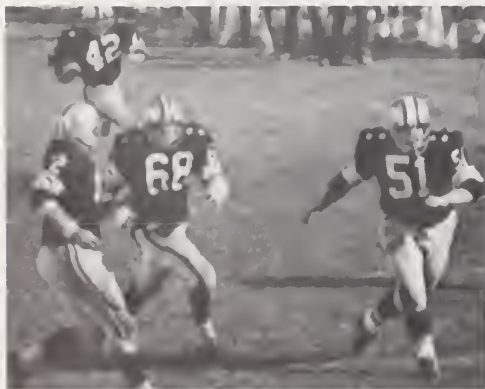

Jennifer Jones and Mary Linder wait for the ball to come their way.

Pep Club

Pep Club members keep themselves busy throughout the year promoting school spirit for Woshington-Lee. The girls decorote the lockers of the ployers in respective seasons, and they also decorote homes before big gomes. At times, football ployers looked forward to Fridoy not as the end of the school week, nor as the day of the gome, but as the doy their "secret admirers" provide them with cookies, coke ond condy.

Kathy Cadwallader, in her senior year, figures if you've got only one year to go, make it a good one and WIN!

Pep Club's locker decorations helped to brighten the halls of W-L, and players' faces.

Christine Kocur decides whether she'll make brownies or cookies for her "secret pal."

Claire Pallansch dreams up some ideas to boost spirits.

Mounted Generals

Washington-Lee was almost without its Mounted Generals this year, as the group had a bit of a problem organizing and finding a sponsor. However, Mrs. Byron "took up the reigns" and the girls' persistence paid off. Many pleasant afternoons were spent in the open air, with lots of sunshine and green grass and blue sky. What better way could the girls have found to beat the energy crisis?

Posing pretty after the ride (or was it before?) are Debbie McInnis, Betty Cunningham, Mary Naccarato, Leslie Hegvold, Florence Ossea, Cathy Scott, and Susan Schenk.

Virginia is known for excellent horsemanship, but should it be renamed "horse-womanship"?

Susan Schenk, Florence Ossea, and Cathy Scott may enjoy the gossip and rest period that follows a ride as much as the ride itself.

Ski Club

Ski Club didn't exactly have all the luck this year; the energy crises curtailed some weekend ski trips, as did extremely warm weather during the month of January. Little snow but lots of enthusiasm led to the club's raising money in a concession stand at a college soccer game, and to its big event of the year, a fantastic three-day ski trip to Seven Springs.

Although this year's Varsity Football team had an overall record of 5-5, they placed third in the Great Falls district behind T.C. Williams, the Northern Region Champions, and Marshall who were last year's District Champions. Excellent performances were turned in by Quarterback Bruce Fleegal and Tackle Bill Weisenburger, the teams Co-Captains. The team had a rookie coach, Bob Rimmer, who played at W-L several years ago. This team shellacked teams such as Herndon, 26-0 and Langley, 15-0. They also lost close games to Wakefield, 8-7, and Mt. Vernon, 10-7. In the annual grudge match, W-L prevailed, beating Yorktown 10-7.

This year's soccer team had an excellent 16 wins, no losses, and 3 tie record. The team won the League Championship in a game against Yorktown, 3-2. However, due to an ineligibility problem, the team had to forfeit all of the games this year. Jaime Delgado was the year's high scorer with 14 goals. His brother, Victor, was second with 13. This year was highlighted by a 4-1 victory over Yorktown, the second place team in the league, and a 4-0 victory over Wakefield.

Varsity Basketball

One small step for the Generals, one giant leap for Mike Cohen.

All eyes are on the ball as David Hill prepares for action

While going through a rebuilding period the varsity basketball team has had a rather disappointing season. Under the leadership of Co-Captains Rex Thomas and Steve Gill, the team has put forth several strong performances. After losing all five of last year's starting players, Coach Tony Ramasca came up with a starting five of sophomore Kenny Dabney and senior Bruce Fleegal at guard, Steve Gill and Jay Brame at forward and Rex Thomas at center. Backing up the first team were seniors Mike Cohen, the biggest man on the team at 6'6", Wendall Maddrey a 2-year veteran, with seniors Pete Lanigan and David Hill rounding out the squad. The team started out with a close loss at Wakefield and then proceeded to compile a 3-2 record before the Christmas break. Immediately afterwards, the team went into a slide losing games to Marshall, Madison, Herndon, and T.C. Williams. In the second half of the season the Generals continued to lose games to teams such as West Springfield, Oakton, and Langley. Even though the team was inexperienced, a lot of their games had close final scores with Washington-Lee leading through most of the game. This was a year of hard-fought games against some of the best teams in the state.

This year's Junior Varsity Wrestling Team has compiled a 12-1 record against some very tough area competition. Their only loss of the season came in the first match, with a close loss to a fantastic West Springfield, 30-27. After that the team got rolling and won twelve consecutive victories, including a total annihilation of Oakton, 56-0. They also trounced Herndon, 50-9, and Marshall, 60-6. Leading the team was Bill Brazil with 8 pins. This team is one of the few in the area that practices every day with its varsity counterpart. The varsity squad drew good crowds this year, and when these JV wrestlers move upward next year there should be standing room only in the W-L gymnasium.

Under the excellent leadership of Coach Barbara Reinwald the team has lost only one meet, and this one was lost by only 1.75 points. The team has also won two games by narrow margins, a .25 point victory over Marshall and a 1 point victory over Herndon. The high point of the season was a 122.6 to 86.05 point victory over T.C. Williams.

Coach Ed Walowac starts his second year as head coach of the W-L JV Baseball team with bright prospects for the future. He starts the season with a large team both in numbers and in physical size. The large number of players could come in very handy during a close game where bench strength is important. Physical size is always helpful to a team. These two factors could make the 1974 season very successful.

Harry Havelos puts all he has into a practice toss of the discus.

Two members of the Spring track team warm up by jogging a few laps.

Junior Luis Pulupa clears the bar during afternoon practice.

Leroy Bailey works on his form in the long jump.

With a mighty heave, David Hart lets the discus fly.

Sporting one of his larger teams, General "Jack" Walker looks toward a promising 1974 season. The team has many returning seniors, as well as a good supporting cast of juniors and sophomores. This team make-up should allow for a strong team this year and for a few years to come.

Girls' Varsity Track

First Row: Linda Yee, Ginger Thompson, Louro Evenson, Missy Stewart, Koren Sheppard, Noelle O'Donnell, Susan Naccoroto, Carol Mognone, Lynn Brewster, Jeni Morris, Molly Mulcohy, Tino Howard. Members of the Girls' Track team warm-up in preparation for an afternoon practice.

Debbie Shawman springs over another hurdle during an early spring work-out.

Although this is only the Girls' Track Team's second year as a Varsity sport, this team should make an excellent showing in the Great Falls District. This year's team has only three returning seniors; Captian Tina Haward, Lisa Glendening and Carinne Hewley. These girls are backed up by an excellent group of Juniors and Saphomores.

Lynn Brewster concentrates on her form while practicing the long jump.

Lynn Brewster and Laura DeWald get set for the starting gun.

Captian Tina Haward puts all she has into yet another mighty heave.

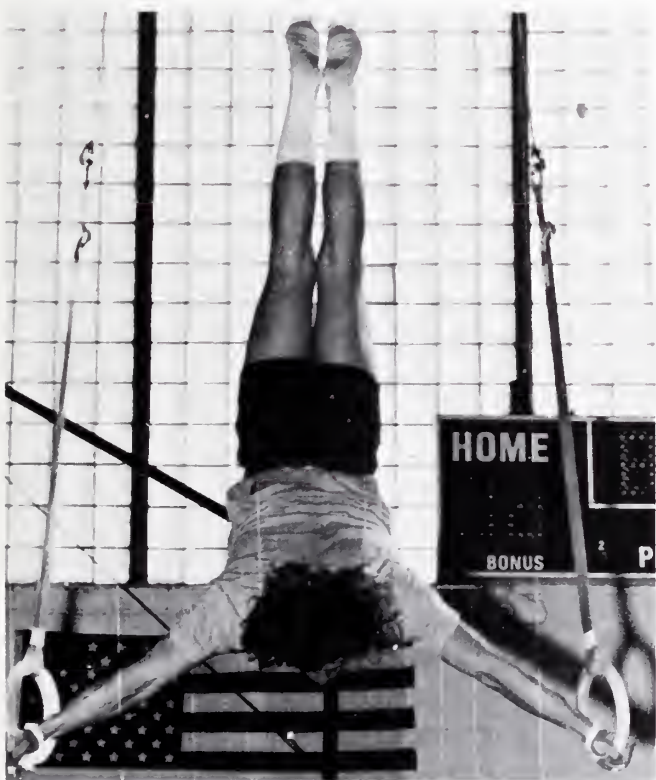

Boys' Varsity Gymnastics

Mitchall, Co-Capt. Bob Blinn, Arnold Terry, Bill Wingfield, Blair Standridge, Jay Newell, Bob Jeschke, Co-Capt. Mike Miller.

This year's Boys' Gymnastics team is probably one of the best Washington-Lee has had since they won the state championship four years ago. The only real compition is expected from our cross county rival Yorktown. This year's team is led by Co-Captians Mike Miller and Bob Blinn. This team also has a strong back-up of Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores.

Mike Miller succeeds in throwing an inverted cross.

Arnold Terry practices his form at an afternoon practice.

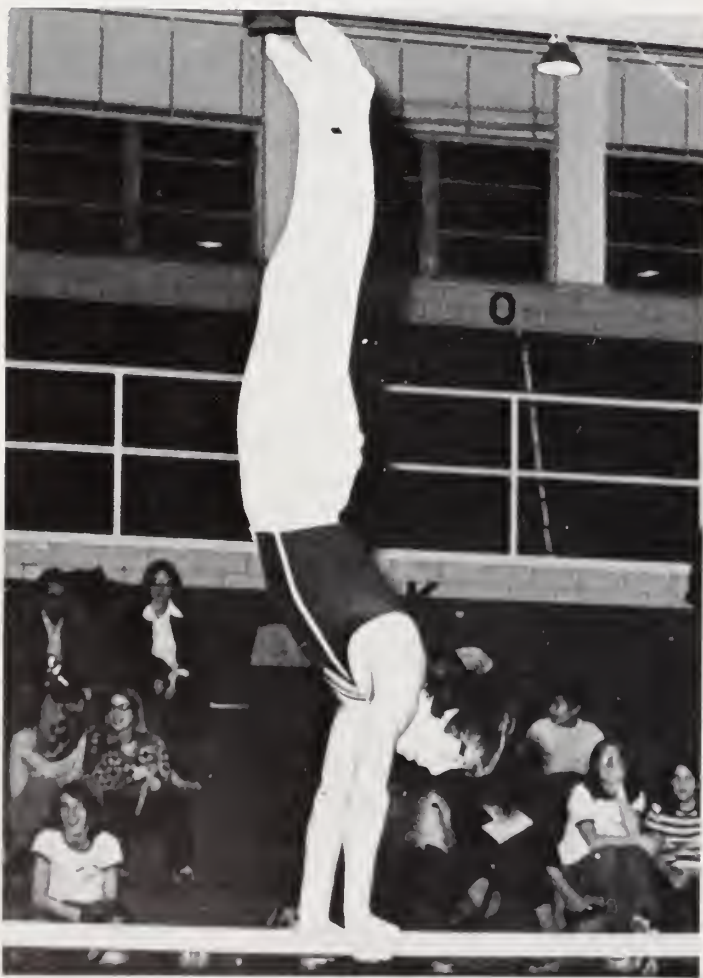

Randy Dragon swings through his routine on the side horse.

All Around, Bob Blinn presents o scissors on the side horse.

Arnold Terry casts up for o Giant Swing.

Bob Jeschke strives for perfection on the parallel bors.

Co-Coptain Mike Miller presses to a handstond on the floor.

Boys' Tennis

First row: B. Lovett, J. Barnes, P. Schmidt. Second row: G. Yeatman, C. Longino, D. Houston, Captain Arthur

With five of last years varsity squad returning, the 1974 Varsity Tennis team sports a strong foundation and lots of experience. Returning to teach the team this year will be Capt. Arthur. With some good luck and good weather the team could prove to be the best to date.

During the early days of spring practice David Houston works on his forehand.

Chip Longino keeps a sharp eye on the ball.

Steve Gill stretches to put that extra something into his serve.

After delivering a vicious backhand, Gary Yeatman feels contented.

Jim Barnes goes to his knees in hopes of a good return.

With just the right touch, Jeff Longina works on backhand.

Crew

Vic Brown and John Aladj take a breather during and afternoon practice.

Prospective members of the first eight push upstream under a threat of rain, while improving their form.

The Potomac Boat Club is the home of the W-L crew on the Potomac River.

Starting in early March, members of the Washington-Lee crew flock to the shores of the murky Potomac to develop a championship rowing squad. Third year oarsmen compete to fill the prized positions on the first eight while everyone else works for the other boats. Each afternoon and Saturday mornings, Coach Charlie Butt assembles his team for a long and hard workout. Starting with two miles on the towpath and several trips up and down the infamous Georgetown steps, the crew then takes to the water. In the early part of the season the crew goes out in the barge to improve rowing form, later after several weeks of practice the team takes out the sleek racing shells and spend most of the afternoon rowing upstream and down. It is this kind of hard work that has brought Washington-Lee victories in the big races such as Stotesbury and the Nationals.

Mike Hubbard is all alone as he approaches the end of another day on the towpath.

Twig Ogletree helps to put the Varsity eight in the water of a Saturday practice.

Richard Schmitt and Steve Hussey strain through their daily leg presses.

Coach Charlie Butt uses an afternoon practice to film the oarsmen's technique.

Bob "the Savage" Hagler gives Coach Gillespie his "you've got to be kidding" look.

The infamous Georgetown Steps.

John Fuka strains through a workout on the barge.

Majorettes

Madonna Paul, Captain

Kathy Bye

Madonna Paul, Captain of the Majorettes, led her girls in their many intricate routines during the year's halftime shows. Gloves and boots alone provide little protection from chill autumn winds, but the girls never lost their spirit, nor their smiles, during the Friday night games.

Madonna and Kathy Bye were the senior members of the 1974 squad, but Mary Kate Leckey, Lucy Huko, and Vickie Sisson will be back next year to boost the spirit of the fans, not to mention the players. They enjoyed working with the much improved Marching Band, and vice-versa.

Varsity Cheerleaders

This year's cheerleading squad was made up of eleven enthusiastic girls. The squad was responsible for promoting school spirit and leading cheers at varsity athletic competitions.

These girls must have been chosen for their good looks as well as their ability to cheer. The student body really rallied behind this leadership.
